

KYLE RATHER

WEB DEVELOPMENT

Career Objective

I am a full stack web developer with a passion in programming. I took part in a coding and web development program from Washington University in Saint Louis. I have also participated in the LaunchCode coding bootcamp. My goal is to continue improving and expanding my knowledge.

Having learned skills such as JavaScript, HTML, CSS, React, Node, Express, MySQL etc. my projects showcase my strength as a coder and the willingness to push myself. I am equally capable of being a reliable team member and fast learner.

My aim remains to continue learning the world of web development while leveraging my productivity and skills to be considered a strong asset to any organization.
